

DPR Construction Announces New Mid-Atlantic Leadership Team

Lisa Lingerfelt and Camilo Garcia Leading DPR's Mid-Atlantic Operations as Greg Haldeman Joins Management Committee to Focus on Northeast Expansion

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 10, 2016 – One of the nation's leading technical builders known for complex and sustainable projects, DPR Construction has created a company culture and structure that promotes shared leadership at all levels and provides opportunities for every employee to develop and grow. As Greg Haldeman joins DPR's Management Committee to focus on expanding operations in the Northeast, Camilo Garcia and Lisa Lingerfelt are taking over responsibilities as the new DPR Business Unit Leaders in the Mid-Atlantic region, which currently includes office locations in Washington, D.C., Richmond, Va. and Baltimore.

"Lisa and Camilo both joined DPR as project engineers over 13 years ago and reflect our emphasis on hiring, inspiring, developing and growing the best people," said Haldeman, who will remain in Washington, D.C. as a member of DPR's Management Committee. "Lisa's and Camilo's expertise across markets and regions make them a strong team to take the reins of DPR's expanding Mid-Atlantic operations and work with others in the area to shape DPR's presence on the east coast."

Lisa Lingerfelt: Lingerfelt joined DPR in 2002 as a project engineer, and has grown with the company, gaining experience in all of DPR's core markets. In 2013, Lingerfelt was named to ENR's "Top 20 under 40" list in the Mid-Atlantic, and she recently made Constructech's list of Women in Construction.

Camilo Garcia: Since joining DPR in 2003 as a project engineer, Garcia has gained deep technical experience on both healthcare and life science projects. In 2011, he moved home to Bogota, Colombia, where he provided consulting services throughout Latin America to several clients on their lean, IPD and BIM practices. He was also heavily engaged with projects across Latin America with longstanding customer EMC, before moving to D.C. in 2014.

About DPR Construction

DPR Construction is a forward-thinking national general contractor and construction manager specializing in technically complex and sustainable projects for the advanced technology/mission critical, life sciences, healthcare, higher education and commercial markets.
